A close-up photograph of a metal door hinge assembly. The hinge is mounted on a wooden door with a vertical grain. The hinge consists of two metal plates, one on the door and one on the frame, connected by a central pin. The metal plates are silver-colored and show signs of wear and discoloration. The wooden door is light brown and has a prominent vertical grain. A large, bold black number '2' is overlaid on the upper part of the hinge. A small, dried, brown leaf is visible on the left side of the door.

A photograph of a metal track, possibly a window blind or a conveyor belt component, with a large black number 6 overlaid in the center. The track is made of a light-colored metal and has two visible screws. It is set against a background of dark, textured material, possibly a wall or a floor. The number 6 is large and bold, centered on the track.
