Pulled plug and started to remove pump and motor from unit. Found pump is locked.
Contacted OEM about replacing pump. Went through a few step to confirm pump is locked.
I was told that this will happen if unit is left to sit. It is a mild steel pump and it will rust up when not used. Also due to age of equipment parts are limited.
I was also told we can try freeing up pump by removing back of motor and turning shaft manually. Used wrench to break pump free. Ran system through one complete cycle to confirm operation.
Unit is up and running.
