DESCRIPTION OF WORK PERFORMED Room 139: Turned the thermostat to heat and the fan kicked on. Took the cover off the unit and went to check power at the W terminal and I had 26v there and the heat turned on. Tightened the connection in the plug and that solved the issue. Cycled the heat multiple times from the thermostat and it came on everytime. Unit is running good at this time.

Room 141: Found the thermostat wasn't programmed into the PTAC unit. Printed off a book and set the programming to be ran off of a thermostat instead of the units control panel. Cycled the heat multiple times on this unit and it ran perfect everytime. Unit is running good at this time.
