WORK PERFORMED/UNIT INFO.

Arrived on site, checked in with customer. Set up ladder and took all the tools i needed to do the job. Took panels off and seen that the disconnect was already turned off. It was on the last time i was here trouble shooting the unit before. I then hooked up gauges and found that the king valve was so rusted up that you could not turn it. I then look at the pressures and it only had 30 psi on it and the unit was r-22. I then took panel off the other circuit and that side was flat on gas. I then climbed down and went and told client that the unit was in really bad shape and that it probably was not cost effective for me to repair it and should probably go ahead and replace the unit. Should client the pictures i took and they said to write it up for them. I went and took
